

Someone once said, "It's not where you start, it's where you finish." Members of the Class of 2021, I think it is safe to say the start to your senior year is certainly different from the start of your previous years. Which, in my little opinion, already makes it unique. However, the situation of this global pandemic can not and will not keep the Class of 2021 down. I am excited to see the productive and creative means to which you not only succeed academically but how you continue to demonstrate the amazing ways to be positive contributors to not our school but to the community at large. Just because we have to start in a remote learning environment does not mean we have to slack or to fall behind in achieving our personal and collective goals. Ultimately, when it is time to award you all with your South Brunswick High School diplomas in June, we will look back at this time in our lives and take note on how we've overcome in spite of the start.

Welcome back Class of 2021. I am delighted to see what this year holds for all of us. Without a doubt, whatever it is, we will adapt and overcome any obstacles that come our way. We will do it safely and carefully but with the same passion and determination that you've demonstrated since your freshman year. We will not miss a beat. Please remember you have the support of family, friends, teachers, counselors and administrators to assist. None of you started this endeavor alone nor will you have to navigate all of the complexities or the demands of your senior year by yourselves either.

With that being said, the first official day of school will begin as an A day on Tuesday, September 8th. The beginning and end times for our days are from 9:00 am - 3:00 pm. A complete schedule for each A and B day will be provided as well as your schedule prior to the first day. We ask that you please continue to check your email for updates.

In conclusion, I, along with our Dean of Students, Mr. Hunt, look forward to helping you all navigate the unique start and yet most importantly a STRONG FINISH to your senior year. Please reach out to either of us if you have any questions. Until then, Class of 2021, be well!
